

Note that each XML element within an XML document could be considered a "namespace registry" individually - each element serving as a context for namespace name/URI binding. Consult DOM for how this is handled within XML DOM (Design question: Will the XSD implementation extend on the DOM and/or SAX model in CXML?)

Note that an OWL ontology defining XSD datatypes may be denoted as containing an implicit schema part, identified by the containing ontology

Lupine::Encoding::XML::XSD::Implementation::Lisp
URI

